Wildlife Rehabilitation HQ

Inc.

Every year WRHQI takes care of more than 150 sick, injured and orphaned animals that are later released back to the wild. Sadly, this number is only increasing each year.

Our greatest expenses come in the form of:

- Marsupial Milk
- Veterinary treatment
- Specialist food
- Heat equipment
- Enclosures

To give you a small indication of the costs involved in helping our Native Wildlife, it costs an average of $1200 per Joey Kangaroo and $250 each bird. This is not including all the Volunteer and Wildlife Keepers' time.

Each year Cooberrie Park kindly donates the wildlife hospital building, rehabilitation land, wildlife rangers and utilities.

Wildlife Rehabilitation HQ Inc. receives no government support and relies on the generosity of the community.

To meet growing demand on our services, we would dearly love your help. Donate to our not-for-profit organisation and help care for Australia's sick, injured and orphaned animals
